MAY 2013 NEWSLETTER

CALL FOR ABSTRACTS FOR PRESENTATIONS AT THE AIChE PROCESS TECHNOLOGY CONFERENCE. You are invited to submit a one-page abstract on a topic for presentation at the 2013 American Institute of Chemical Engineers (AIChE) Southwest Process Technology Conference. Texas Industries of the Future is coordinating the Energy Forum, to be offered in conjunction with the conference. Submit your abstract by Friday, May 17, 2013 to Kathey Ferland at kferland@mail.utexas.edu See <http://TexasIOF.ceer.utexas.edu/> for the "Call for Abstracts."

JOIN US ON JUNE 6 FOR "ENERGY PERFORMANCE IMPROVEMENT: PROJECTS, PRACTICES AND TECHNOLOGIES" IN GALVESTON. Texas IOF is hosting a day-long program at the Texas Chemical Council annual seminar at Moody Gardens Convention Center. Topics include: award winning programs, Boiler MACT compliance, Quantum Cascade Laser analyzer applications, and getting more out of your energy assets. Discounted online registration ends May 20. The program can be viewed at <http://TexasIOF.ceer.utexas.edu/> Registration open at <http://ehs-seminar.com/attendee-registration> .

PRESENTATIONS NOW POSTED FOR "ENERGY MANAGEMENT IN THE AGE OF SHALE GAS" MARCH 7, 2013. Less expensive natural gas is changing the ROI for energy-efficiency projects at process plants in Texas. What else do engineers responsible for energy in Texas process plants need to know to be successful in today's lower-cost natural gas environment? Are there other opportunities as a result of the tight capacity reserves in the ERCOT electric market? Speakers from ERCOT, Viridity Energy, Alcoa and the UT Center for Energy Economics address capacity and demand response in ERCOT, components of a successful program, and the dynamics of natural gas markets. See the presentations posted at <http://TexasIOF.ces.utexas.edu/>
